

Suggested Best Practices for Alternative Educators

The Governor's Alternative Education Advisory Group has suggested several general recommendations for alternative educators:

- Schools should avoid sending students to alternative schools for 5-10 day suspensions. Students should be remanded to an alternative school for an appropriate length of time for learning to occur.
- Whenever possible, the student's transition back to the home school should occur at a natural break, such as the end of a grading period or semester.

These recommendations are not a mandatory requirement for alternative educators and/or alternative schools or programs.
