Standard A: Instructional Leadership for Continuous Improvement

“Good leadership is not about you. It is about what you leave behind.... In the process of improvement, it is almost inevitable that significant barriers will arise. Great leaders learn to build trenches under barriers and find ladders to use to climb over them.”

Capacity Building: What to look for

EDUCATORS

3

Builds capacity among educators for:

- Developing an accurate understanding of Tennessee-adopted standards and instructional practices
- Demonstrating fidelity to state and district- approved curriculum standards
- Studying, analyzing, and evaluating approved curriculum resources, including texts
- Establishing a system for monitoring student work for rigor and curriculum alignment
- Establishing collective accountability when making needed adjustments to deepen classroom rigor

Through multiple sources of data, it is evident that:

- Teachers are improving in their implementation of state standards and the instructional practices that lead to student success in meeting those standards.
- Teachers are improving in the alignment of tasks they use to generate student work, as well as their ability to effectively analyze and use student work.
- Teachers are improving in their collaboration around rigor in their classrooms.

Capacity Building: Data Sources

What data sources of data (quantitative and qualitative) indicate that teachers are:

- Improving in their implementation of state standards?
- Improving in their instructional practices?
- Improving in the alignment of classroom tasks with standards?
- Generating student work?
- Analyzing student work?
- Using their analysis of student work to improve?
- Collaborating with colleagues ensure classroom rigor?

This Standards Analysis Report provides information on how the students performed on the standards assessed on the test for this content area:

- The Percent of Score Points Earned by School, District, or State provides information on the proportion of score points earned versus total points possible.
- Higher percentages mean that students demonstrated greater understanding of the standard as evidenced by the higher proportion of score points they collectively earned.
