

Student Growth Portfolios:
World Language
Reflection Rubric

	5	4	3	2	1
Reflective thinking	The reflection explains the student's own thinking and learning process in detail. The student demonstrates a superior understanding of language proficiency.	The reflection explains the student's own thinking and learning processes, as well as some implications for future learning. The student demonstrates a strong understanding of language proficiency.	The reflection explains the student's thinking about his/her own learning processes. The student demonstrates an emerging understanding of language proficiency.	The reflection demonstrates some reflective thinking about learning but is vague and unspecific. The reflection is vague and/or unclear about language proficiency.	There is little or no reflective thinking about the student's learning. The student shows little or no understanding of language proficiency.
Impact on future learning	The student accurately identifies areas for growth and describes a concrete action plan for future improvement.	The student reflection explains strategies to improve future learning but does not include a concrete plan of action.	The student reflection identifies areas in need of improvement but does not address how growth will occur.	The student reflection explains ideas to improve future learning but does not include a concrete plan of action.	The reflection does not address plans or strategies for future learning.
Analysis	The reflection is an in-depth analysis of the learning experience, and the student can relate their learning to the world beyond the classroom. The student is able to explain how language proficiency may help them in their career of life after school.	The reflection is an in-depth analysis of the learning experience and the value of the learning. It shows an enhancement of the student's appreciation for the discipline.	The reflection is an analysis of the learning experience, and the student can state the value of the learning.	The reflection attempts to analyze the learning experience, but the value of the learning is vague and/or unclear.	The reflection does not move beyond a description of the learning experience or focuses only on their grades.